DETAILED ACTION

Receipt of applicant's amendment filed 7/14/06 is acknowledged. Claims 1-18 are pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-8 and 13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The claimed subject matter of "non-curable viscous matrix" and "a distribution of carbon fibers within the viscous matrix material wherein orientation and location of carbon fiber relative to each other are movable upon flow of the matrix material" are not supported by the original disclosure. There is no description of the claimed subject matter in the original disclosure.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Webb (US 6,542,371). Webb discloses (column 2, lines 28-column 3, line 7) an electronic system that has a thermal interface material comprising a viscous matrix such as silicon oil thermal grease mixed with carbon fibers and thermally conductive particles such as aluminum or copper. Regarding to the limitations that has been rejected under 1st paragraph, Webb discloses (column 4, lines 12-26 and column 5, lines 9-50) that the matrix material is silicon oil, which is the same material as claimed. Therefore, it is capable of being a non-curable viscous matrix material. Furthermore, with respect to a distribution and location of carbon fibers relative to each other are movable upon flow of the matrix material and suspending a number of carbon fibers with a substantially random orientation in three dimension within the non-adhesive viscous matrix material, can be found in (column 4, lines 12-26; lines 42-65 and column 5, lines 9-50).

The applied reference has a common assignee with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Regarding applicant's argument of the improper of 102 (e) rejections because of common assignee, the argument is not persuasive. Applicant is reminded to see MPEP 2136.01 [R-3]( II).

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Art Unit: 3753

McCullough (US 6,048,919) discloses a thermally conductive composite material.
